You should choose the best answers to the questions and mark the corresponding letters on the Answer Sheet with a single line through the center.

Passage 1

Most Americans switch careers at least three times throughout their lives. Gone are the days when people retired from the company where they first worked. The progressive mentality (心态)regarding business and technology often ensures that people move from position to position as they try to find the right career for them.

Recent college graduates ask "what career is right for me?" many times in the months before and after graduation Now more than ever, people are also asking "what career is right for me?" into their thirties, forties and fifties. Even baby boomers（生育高峰期出生的人）are asking "what job is right for me?" as they retire and reenter the workforce in their sixties and seventies. It seems that every employee in America is wondering which career path fits him or her best.

When you find yourself asking "what career is best for me?", follow some of these simple tips to set yourself straight on the best path for you.

1.Consult a website and take its test to see which career path might be right for you.

2.Think about whether you are happy with your current job.

3.Emphasize your skills in your resume.

4.Do more research about the new career.

51.According to the first paragraph, most Americans now_____.

A.are more satisfied with their career than their parents

B.change their careers at least three times in their life

C.move their home more frequently than ever before

D.retire from the company where they first worked 52.People change their position frequently in order to_____.

A.find a right career

B.support their families

C.start their own business

D.adapt to the new technology

53.All American employees seem to be asking about_____.

A.which company they will retire from

B.when they should change a position

C.what career path is right for them

D.where they can find another job

54.Why are you advised to consult a website and take its test?

A.To find information about job fairs.

B.To improve your professional skills.

C.To decide the right career path.

D.To get in touch with a potential boss.

55.The last part of the passage is mainly about_____.

A.ways to build a website

B.steps to take an online test

C.courses to train resume writing

D.tips to find a right career path

Passage 2

The holidays are the most wasteful time of the year. The amount of waste produced increases by more than 25% from Thanksgiving to New Year's Day.Waste from shopping bags alone amounts to four million tons in the U.S.and 28 billion pounds of food is wasted annually.

That's about 100 pounds per person. Now for the good news. You can simplify the holidays, do something about the amount of waste. Most issues surrounding food safety and food waste involve leftovers(剩饭). Plan ahead for the number of people you will be feeding, including a day or two of leftovers, but don't try to keep food too long. Preparing the right amount of food will keep everyone feeling well and eliminate the need to throw away extra food this time of year.

Plan thoughtfully when giving gifts. Waste-free gifts of time and talent are appreciated. Tickets to concerts, the zoo, movies or sporting events make fun gifts and don't come with any waste.

Wrapping paper can be recycled as long as it isn't the metal variety. Better yet, reduce waste by wrapping gifts in shopping bags or other reusable items, to save the wrapping part of the package.

56. What is said about holidays according to the passage?

A. 28 billion pounds of food is wasted.

B. They are the busiest time of the year.

C. They are the most wasteful time of the year.

D. 4 million tons of shopping bags are consumed.

57. What does the writer mean by saying "simplify the holidays”（Para.2)?

A. Spending the holidays in a simple way.

B. Preparing enough food for the holidays.

C. Making the holidays as comfortable as possible.

D. Saving as much money as possible for the holidays.

58. According to the passage, leftovers are most likely to cause issues of_____.

A. food price

B. food delivery

C. food safety and waste

D. food quality and cooking

59. According to the last paragraph, you are advised_____.

A. not to use shopping bags for gifts

B. to use reusable items to wrap gifts

C. not to use anything made of plastics

D. to use packaging boxes made of wood

60. The passage is mainly about_____.

A. when to buy Thanksgiving gifts

B. how to reduce wastes in holidays

C. how to spend New Year’s Day

D. when to handle leftover food

Passage 3

Passage 4

Being your own boss is the dream of most people, but it comes with a price. Since you do not have to answer to someone else, you have to be responsible for your own business. In this sense, the business becomes the new boss. Here are some tips for you to observe.

Work-life balance: Staring a business will consume a lot of time and energy. Not letting the business prevent you from having personal time is a challenge. The failure to manage a work-life balance can lead to health problems and lost relationships with family and friends.

Making decisions: Since you are the owner, you have the final decision. This can be a tough challenge because you know that you alone have to bear the consequences of your decisions.

Self-doubt and criticism: In the beginning, customers and competitors will not take you seriously. Everyone will be quick to share their opinions on what you are doing wrong and why it will not work.

With all this, self-doubt will start to occur. Maybe they are all right. Maybe starting this business was a bad idea. If you have done your homework, this is the moment to overcome the fear of failure and have the confidence in yourself to keep going.

66.According to the first paragraph, being your own boss means that you should_____.

A.meet your customers' demand

B.take responsibility of your own business

C.have the freedom to do what you like

D.take other people's needs into consideration

67. The writer believes that not being able to manage a work-life balance can result in_____.

A. big debts

B lost profits

C.legal issues

D.health problems

68.Making a final decision can be a tough challenge to business owners because_____ .

A.they have to be responsible for its consequences

B.they are unable to turn to others for advice

C.they find it hard to achieve a work-life balance

D.they are prevented from having their personal time

69.What will your competitors react at the very beginning of your business?

A.They will not accept your products.

B.They will not take you seriously.

C.They will criticize your business strongly.

D.They will congratulate you on your success.

70.By saying "you have done your homework", the writer means_____ .

A.you are well-prepared

B.you are fully satisfied

C.you are highly confident

D.you are less worried

Passage 5

Although buses tend to be slower than the subway for traveling around New York City, there are many reasons to use the bus while visiting New York City. They tend to service areas of Manhattan that are not located close to subway lines. Buses offer the added advantage of being able to see various areas of Manhattan while you ride.

How Much Does the Bus Cost?

Fare is $2.25 and can be paid with a MetroCard or coins (no dollar bills, no pennies).

A free transfer to another bus or the subway within 2 hours is available if you paid with a Metrocard.

If you pay cash you can ask for a transfer, but it is only good for transferring to another bus (not to the subway) within 2 hours.

Getting On and Off the Bus

You must wait for buses at designated (指定的) bus stops.

As you see the bus approaching your stops, you can put your arm out to indicate to the driver that you want to board the bus.

Enter the bus through the front doors and pay your fare.

Take a seat or move toward the back of the bus to make room for other people boarding the bus.

To request a stop: Pull the cord or press the black band near the windows. A “Stop Requested” light will be on immediately at the front of the bus.

71. Compared with buses, the subway for traveling around New York City is likely to be _____.

A. faster

B. slower

C. more expensive

D. more convenient

72. One advantage of traveling by bus is that you can _____.

A. book a comfortable seat

B. buy your ticket in advance

C. transfer to the subway freely

D. see different areas of Manhattan

73. Passengers can pay their bus fare _____.

A. with pennies

B. with dollar bills

C. with a MetroCard

D. with a credit card

74. To indicate to the driver that you want to board the bus, you may _____.

A. put your arm out

B. show your ticket

C. go to the back door

D. wave your Metrocard

75. To ask for a stop while riding a bus, you may _____.

A. raise your hand

B. move toward the front door

C. press the black band near the windows.

D. turn off the “Stop Requested” light immediately

Passage 6

When people move from one city or country to another, the spread of diseases may result. People often bring in germs(病菌) that may not have been present there before. These new germs can spread quickly and cause previously unknown diseases. If a germ is completely new to a region, people who already live there have no natural protection against it. As a result, they become ill more easily and die more often. In turn, newcomers may catch diseases that were not present in their own country. If they go back, they may carry the diseases with them and spread the diseases there, too.

Changes in the heating system of a building can also lead to disease. In the 1970s, there was a worldwide shortage of heating oil. As a result, hotels in the United Sate lowered the temperature in their heating systems in order to save fuel. This low temperature led to a deadly germ that grows in heating pipes. When the heated air was blown into the rooms of a hotel, it carried the genus. Many visitors became ill and several died.

76.The spread of new diseases may result from the move of people who_____ .

A.carry the germs

B.have no protection

C.become ill more easily

D.work in a crowded place

77.When a new germ is spread to a region, _____.

A.it will cause the whole region to suffer from a deadly disease

B.newcomers are seldom affected by the newly-spread germ

C.people there usually have no natural protection against it

D.people in that region can hardly escape from the disease

78.From the passage we learn that changes in the heating system of a building can result in _____.

A.an oil shortage

B.certain diseases

C.the air pollution

D.a high temperature

79.What caused the growth of a deadly germ in the heating pipes of the hotels?

A.The dry air.

B.The polluted oil.

C.The heated pipes.

D.The low temperature.

80.The passage is mainly about_____ .

A.the protection against new diseases

B.the danger of visiting new places

C.the spread of new diseases

D.the worldwide shortage of fuel

Passage 7

Marketing furniture to the public can be challenging for a small business owner. Consumers buy furniture pieces only occasionally. However, there are several furniture promotion ideas that can be used to help you reach your target market.

One thing you can do is to talk with real estate (房地产) agents to allow you to display your furniture in a new home or open house setting. This is a good way to reach a key target market – new home buyers – who may need new furniture for their future homes. Increasing foot traffic (顾客流量) is also important for a furniture store. To get more people to the store, you can advertise a raffle event (抽奖活动). This event can be promoted in your local media and through direct mail campaigns or front door advertisements to generate more interest.

In tough economic times, small business owners often suffer most as a result of slow consumer spending. To fight back against this, you have to make it easier of your customers to buy furniture. If you can, offer in-store financing, or drop the interest rate on your company's credit terms. Consider lowering your prices and holding two-for-one events to arouse more consumer interest.

81. Why is it a challenge for small businesses to sell furniture to the public?

A. The style of furniture changes fast.

B. Their furniture is often old-fashioned.

C. People buy furniture only occasionally.

D. The public's taste for furniture is different.

82. According to the writer, it is a good way for small business owners to sell their furniture by _____.

A. improving after-sales service

B. reducing the advertising expenses

C. providing free delivery of furniture

D. displaying the furniture in a new home

83. To get more customers to your store, you are advised to _____.

A. advertise a raffle event

B. visit your local customers

C. have longer business hours

D. improve local traffic conditions

84. The purpose of holding two-for-one events is to _____.

A. offer in-store financing

B. lower the furniture's cost

C. attract consumers' interest

D. reduce the advertising budget

85. The passage is mainly about _____.

A. furniture designing

B. furniture promotion

C. furniture store decoration

D. furniture production process

Passage 8

Some workplace stress is normal, but when stress at work begins to weaken your ability to perform in your job, it's time for you to take action. Start by paying attention to your physical and emotional health.

Get moving

Regular exercise is an effective way to help you to relax both your mind and body. Try to get at least 30 minutes of activity on most days. If it's easier to fit into your schedule, break up the activity into two or three shorter periods of time each day.

Get enough sleep

A lack of sleep can make you suffer from more stress. When you're well-rested, it's much easier to keep your emotional balance. Try to improve the quality of your sleep by keeping a sleep schedule and aiming for 8 hours a night.

Get support

Close relationships are important to helping you through times of stress Simply sharing your feelings face to face with another person can help relieve some of the stress. Accepting support is not a sign of weakness and it won't mean you're a burden to others. In fact, most friends will be willing to help you to reduce your stress, and this will only strengthen your relationship.

86. You should take action to handle your workplace stress when _____.

A.it affects your job performance

B.it begins to damage your health

C.it influences your emotion

D.it shows its first signs

87.If possible, you are advised to _____.

A.exercise before you start your work each day

B.do exercise together with your friends

C.arrange your activities based on your health

D.divide your activity into shorter periods of time

88.It you follow an 8-hour sleep schedule, you are more likely to _____.

A.get used to getting up early

B.improve your sleep quality

C.achieve positive effects of exercise

D.be able to work longer every day

89. To relieve your stress, you are encouraged to _____.

A.show your weaknesses to your friends

B.avoid becoming a burden to others

C.make as many friends as possible

D.share your feelings with others

90. The passage is mainly about _____.

A.how to do exercise regularly

B.how to seek help from others

C.how to deal with workplace stress

D.how to keep your emotional balance

Booster Seats（幼儿保护座椅）are more than a good idea. It is the law. Until children are 8 years old or 4.9 feet tall, they can be too big for a child car seat but too small for a safety belt. A booster seat makes safety belts fit properly and reduces the risk of injury in a crash.

Which seat should I use? Either a proper-fitting child safety seal or booster seat installed（安装）correctly will meet the requirements of Michigan's new law for children under the age of 8 or not yet 4.9 feet tall. This includes using a booster seat with both a lap（膝部）and shoulder belt.

Where do I get a booster seat, and how much do they cost? Booster seats are available at many stores. They cost between $15 and $100 depending on the style.

Important: All booster seats are safest when used in the back seat and with both the car's lap and shoulder belt. Never use a lap belt only.

在家工作的最大缺点之一是，不像在办公室工作，所有的干扰会使你很难集中精力做手头的工作。 当家人都在家时，分心会使工作变得困难。 虽然为了省钱照顾孩子，你可能会选择在家工作而不是在办公室工作，但你可能会发现一边工作一边照顾孩子是很困难的，如果不是不可能的话。

感谢你 4 月 16 日的来信和简历。我已经把你的简历送到相关部门，很快就会得到考虑。我们会联系你，可能会在下周的某一天安排面试。 如果目前没有适合你的职位，我们也会尽快让你知道。 谢谢你对我们公司感兴趣。

Part ll Reading Comprehension （45%）

This part is to test your reading ability.There are two sections in it.

Section 1（40%）

Directions:

There are 4 passages in this section.After each passage there are 5 questions.Such question is followed by four answers marked A.B.C.and D.Choose the best answer to the question and blacken the corresponding letter Answer Sheet.

Passage 1

Mobile phones have become a part of everyone's life.Most people have at least one mobile phone.And every month,new models appear in the stores.They offer exciting new features like cameras.MP3 players.and the ability to connect with the Internet.Now mobile phone users can do more on the Internet than ever before.They are able to do almost all the things on their mobile phones that they used to do on their computers.Moreover,some mobile phones now have voice recognition software,so people do not even have to use the buttons on their phones.They can simply tell their phones what they want to see or do.

One problem with mobile phones is that they have small screens.However,this problem could be solved in the future by making phones that project pictures and movies onto a wall or a sheet of paper.Mobile phones will also be used with“e-paper”（large screens that can be folded and easily stored and carried）as well as personal video screens that look like pairs of sunglasses.

As you can see,the mobile phone has a promising future,and its features will change in ways that we cannot even imagine.

26.Which of the following is NOT an exciting new feature of today’s mobile phones？

A.Cameras. B.MP3 players

C.CD players. D.Internet connection

B 站：小蓝书创作

27._____ allows people to tell their phones what they want to see or do.

A.An overhead projector B.A personal video screen

C.A button on the phone D.Voice recognition software

28.According to the passage,what is the problem with mobile phones？

A.Their screens are small. B.They connect with the Internet.

C.New models appear all the time. D.They do many things a computer does.

29.All the following are features of e-paper EXCEPT that _____.

A.it can be stored B.it can be folded

C.it can be carried D.it can be printed

30.What can we infer from the last paragraph？

A.The mobile phone has a sad future B.The mobile phone has a bright future.

C.The mobile phone has a certain future. D.The mobile phone has a difficult future.

Passage 2

Mars is the fourth planet from the Sun.For many centuries,Mars has also been called the“Red Planet”.Ancient Greeks and Romans thought of Mars as the god of war.Some people imagined that Mars was like the Earth and inhabited with many strange creatures.

Galileo was the first person to view Mars through a telescope.As telescopes improve, astronomers find that the red planet is about half as big as the Earth.From 1965 through 1972.The American Mariner series of robot spacecraft took many close-up television images of Mars.In 1976 two American spacecraft arrived on the Martian surface.Each carried two color television cameras,a 3-meter-long retractable（可伸缩的）arm,a small laboratory,and other instruments. They helped scientists discover exciting new knowledge about Mars.

Mars is mostly a vast desert with immense mountains,extremely deep canyons,and enormous dust storms.Ice covers the Martian polar-regions,and buried ice exists in other areas.Some regions can get warm,but a -60℃ is the average Martian temperature.

Some scientists believe a global warming gas could be produced on Mars.This gas could help to warm the cold red planet and make it more like the Earth.

The future is full of exciting changes,and some day Mars will have human explorers colonists,and tourists hiking across its surface.Maybe one of these people will be you.

31.Which of the following is not true according to the passage？

A.Mars is like the Earth.

B.Strange creatures live on Mars.

C.Mars is also called the“Red Planet”.

D.Ancient Greeks believed Mars was the god of peace.

32.The Earth is about _____ Mars.

A.twice as big as　　B.four times as big as

C.as big as　　D.half as big as 33.You'll find all the following on Mars EXCEPT_____.

A.dust storms　　B.mountains

C.canyons　　D.lakes

34.What do we know about Mars from the passage？

A.It's cold on Mars.　　B.It's warm on Mars.

C.Ice exists everywhere.　　D.Ice only exists in polar-regions.

35.Scientists believe a global warming gas could _____.

A.warm up the Earth　　B.make Mars more like the Earth

C.discover knowledge about Mars　　D.protect the environment on Mars

Passage 3

Many people believe that Sigmund Freud's work marked the beginning of modern psychology.He developed new ways to study the human personality.Some people disagreed with his ideas, and others thought he was a genius.

Sigmund Freud was born in 1856 in Moravia,which is now the Czech Republic.His family moved to Vienna when Sigmund was four years old.He was the oldest of his mother's eight children and her favorite.Sigmund loved to read and he was always at the top of his class.He had no interest in sports or outdoor activities,except walking.The family apartment had only four bedrooms,but Sigmund's mother gave him his own room so he could study in peace.He rarely joined the family for meals.Instead,he ate alone in his room,surrounded by his favorite books.

Sigmund first thought about studying law,but then he decided to study medicine.He enrolled at the University of Vienna in 1873.He loved working in the laboratory and studying the scientific side of medicine rather than helping the patients.In fact,he stayed in school for seven years instead of the usual five because he spent so much time working in the laboratory of a famous professor.

36.Which of the following about Sigmund Freud is NOT true?

A.He loved reading. B.He was a top student.

C.He was his mother's favorite child D.He enjoyed having meals with his family.

37.When did Sigmund's family move to Vienna?

A.In 1873. B.In 1864.

A.sports B.books

C.walking D.studying

39.It took Sigmund seven years to get his medical degree because _____.

A.he helped the patients B.he spent lots of time in the lab

C.he went to law school first D.school was difficult for him

40.According to the passage,what is people's opinion about Sigmund Freud?

A.They all think of him as crazy. B.They all regard him as a genius.

C.People know little about him. D.People's opinions are divided.

Passage 4

An early attempt to find a technological breakthrough for high speed rail travelling China was the Shanghai Maglev,which opened to the public in 2004.As the first commercial magnetic Levitation(磁悬浮)train in the world,it connects Shanghai's Pudong International Airport with the Shanghai subway system,traveling a distance of 30 kilometers in 8 minutes,at speeds as high as 430 kilometers per hour.It is the fastest commercially operated train anywhere in the world.

China now has two more maglevs.One in Changsha and the other in Beijing However,both of these only cover short distances and the trains travel at speeds of around 100 kilometers per hour,which is not much faster than trains on many conventional rail lines.

Apart from the complex technical and safety issues involved with maglev trains.Another big drawback with having a maglev line appears to be the high cost.Thus although maglev technology will continue to be used in the future - a train that is capable of reaching speeds of 600 kilometers per hour is being developed - the focus has been on ore conventional,off-the-shelf technology in the development of China's high speed rail network.

41.The first commercial magnetic-levitation train in the world is in _____.

A.Changsha B.Beijing

C.Shanghai D.Wuhan

42.Which of the following statements about Shanghai Maglev is true?

A.It is the fastest train in the world.

B.It opened to the public in 2004.

C.It travels 600 kilometers per hour

D.It is not very expensive to build.

43.Trains on China's conventional rail lines most probably travel at speeds of about _____ kilometers per hour.

A.30 B.100

C.430 D.600

44.Which of the following is NOT a drawback with building a maglev line?

A.Cost. B.Safety

C.Speed D.Technology.

45.The focus of the development of China's high speed rail network has been on all of the following EXCEPT _____.

A.maglev technology B.traditional technology

C.off-the-shelf technology D.conventional technology

Why is hot pot so popular in China?It shows the Chinese cultural values of openness and sharing.With a hot pot,you can put in any ingredient that you like:vegetables as well as meat. The same pot can serve any number of different meals to the people sitting around the table.No one is left out,and everyone gets to eat as much -or as little-as they want.

Hot pot creates a cozy,warm atmosphere and really brings people together as you sit around a pot,cooking,eating,talking,and relaxing.The food is important but also important are the feels.

In China,people like to joke that there is no problem that a hot pot can't solve.The fire from the hot pot can melt just about any icy disagreement and warm just about any heart.Over a hot pot people can talk and share not just food,but friendship.While the food may soon be forgotten, these friendships stay with us forever.

Passage 1

Itzhak Perlman is one of the finest violinists alive today. Several years ago, Perlman agreed to attend a charity (慈善) reception after one of his concerts. At the reception one guest said, "Mr. Perlman, you were truly amazing tonight." Perlman smiled and thanked him graciously. The man continued, "I have never heard anyone play the violin as well as you." Perlman smiled again but said nothing, and the man continued, "You know, Mr. Perlman, I would give my whole life to be able to play the violin like you did tonight." Perlman smiled once more and said, "I have."

That is the difference. While some of us sit around thinking, I would give my whole life to be able to do that, or, I hope that happens to me one day, people like Perlman are getting the job done. They are giving their whole lives to the fulfillment of their dreams.

All men and women have dreams, but only some achieve their dreams. Why is this? The reason is that some people dream and wait for their dreams to come true. They look at others, whom they consider fortunate or lucky, and think, I hope that happens to me one day! Others devote themselves to excellence and go out onto the stage of life chasing their dreams, living life passionately. They make their dreams come true.

26. What does the underlined word "graciously" (in Para. 1) most probably mean?
A. Comfortably.
B. Humorously.
C. Gratefully.
D. Politely.

B. Perlman was invited to attend a charity reception after his concert.
C. Perlman was invited to play the violin after the charity reception.
D. The guest did not really enjoy Perlman's concert.

28. According to the author, why do some people achieve their dreams?
A. They wait for their dreams to come true.
B. They are considered fortunate or lucky.
C. They hope their dreams will come true.
D. They give their lives to their dreams.

29. Why does the author tell the story about Perlman?
A. Because Perlman made his dream come true.
B. Because Perlman was very kind and gracious.
C. Because Perlman always had his own dreams.
D. Because Perlman smiled and thanked the guest.

30. Which of the following would be the best title for the passage?
A.A Charity Reception
B. Dream Differently

Passage 2

For many people, the most exciting way to shop is at a street market. Here are five world-famous markets.

The Grand Bazaar in Turkey is more than 500 years old and it has more than four thousand shops under one roof. You can buy almost anything here, but the most popular items for tourists are the beautiful carpets.

In Asia, the most famous market is perhaps in Thailand, a place called Danneon Saduak. From six in the morning to midday, every day, people sell fresh fruit and vegetables from their boats.

Many Italians say the Campo de'Fiori in Rome is the most beautiful square in the world. It's the home of a colorful flower, fruit and vegetable market, open from seven o'clock in the morning to midday every day except Sunday. It is a lively place to meet friends and to have a meal.

Every year, thousands of people travel to Germany to visit the famous Christmas Markets. The old town of Nurnberg has the biggest market, open from the end of November until Christmas. Here people can buy toys, hand-made gifts and Christmas decorations.

One of the world's most unusual markets is in Mexico City: at the Sonara Market. As well as toys and birds, you can buy herbs and natural medicines which (they say) can help with anything —from problems at work to problems with your marriage!

31. Which of the following may have the greatest number of shops?

Passage 3

During the COVID-19 outbreak, many children were isolated at home. They often felt very unhappy as their normal lives were suddenly interrupted and completely changed.

Sproutel Purrble came to save some of these children out of trouble. An interactive (互动的) plush (毛绒) toy which is equipped with seven sensors (传感器) that respond to touch, Purrble's able-to-touch heartbeat speeds up to 135 beats per minute when it senses somebody is playing with it. Kids can then comfort their companion with gentle touching and soft voice, slowing Purrble's quick heartbeat to a low continuous sound—calming themselves as well in the process.

Developed through using research from the Committee for Children, a nonprofit and global leader on social-emotional learning, the device aims to help children learn to manage their emotions, such as keeping them calm.

Early research shows that Purrble is doing just that: in a study with 20 families, 19 parents reported that the toy helped their kids calm down when they needed to. "I grew up with a long-time illness as a child and would have loved to have this," says Aaron Horowits, head of Sproutel, the company which designed the toy.

36. What is Sproutel Purrble?

A.A sensor.　　B.A kid.

C. An illness.　　D.A toy.

37. What enables Purrble to calm kids down?

A. Feeling isolated.
B. Having lots of plush.
C. Responding to touch.
D. Making different sounds.

38. How do kids comfort Purrble?

A. Equipping it with sensors.
B. Responding to its sound.
C. Touching it gently.
D. Increasing its heartbeat.

39. Which of the following designed the device?

A. Sproutel.
B. A famous researcher.
C. Aaron Horowits.
D. Committee for Children.

40. Which of the following best describes most parents' attitude to Purrble?

A. Unclear.
B. Critical.
C. Positive.
D. Negative.

Passage 4

English is spoken by hundreds of millions of people worldwide, but do the development of translation technology and "mixed" languages damage its status (地位)?

For how much longer will English qualify as the "world's favorite language"? The World Economic Organization estimates that about 1.5 billion people around the world speak it—but fewer than 400 million have it as their first language.

English is the world's favorite lingua franca—the language people are most likely to turn to when they don't share a first language. Imagine, for example, a Russian speaker who speaks no French in conversation with a French speaker who speaks no Russian. The chances are that they would use English.

Five years ago, perhaps. But not any more. Thanks to advances in computer translation and voice-recognition technology, they can each speak their own language, and hear what the other speaker is saying, which is machine-translated in real time.

So English's days as the world's top global language may be numbered. That is: the computers are coming, and they are winning.

So is the future of English at risk? I don't think so, although its global influence may become less over the coming decades. Like all languages, it is constantly changing and adapting (适应) to new needs. Until recently，"text" and "friend" were nouns. Now, they are also verbs, as in "I'll text you," or "Why don't you friend me?"

41. How many people are estimated to speak English as their first language?
    A. Less than 1.5 billion.
    B. Less than 400 million.
    C. More than 1.5 billion.
    D. More than 400 million.

42. What language will most probably be used between a Russian and a Frenchman without translation technology?
    A. English.
    B. French.
    C. Russian.
    D.A mixed language.

43. What is a lingua franca?
    A. A language spoken by millions of people.
    B. A language understood only by machines.
    C. A language used in computer translation technology.
    D. A language spoken by people who don't share a first language.

44. Which of the following is made possible by machine-translation?
    A. Communicating across different languages.
    B. Identifying speakers through voice recognition.
    C. Using English as the world's favorite language.
    D. Replacing English by computer language.

45. What does the writer think of the future of the English language?
    A. It is extremely promising.
    B. It is still full of hope.
    C. It is uncertain.
    D. It is at risk.

Charles Darwin (1809—1882) was one of the most influential scientists of all time. His theory of evolution by natural selection explained how life on Earth developed, and is the basic concept upon which the life sciences are built.

Darwin's father was a doctor. On leaving school, Darwin followed in his father's footsteps and went to Edinburgh University to study medicine. However, he gave up because he hated the sight of blood. He then went to the University of Cambridge, intending to work in a church.

Darwin discovered his love of natural history at Cambridge, where he spent much of his time collecting insects. He graduated in 1831 and accepted a place as a naturalist on board Beagle. The ship's five-year voyage proved to be the most important period in Darwin's life, providing the basis for his future ideas and writings.

He returned to England in 1836 and published an account of his travels, which made him famous. He began to develop his theory of natural selection and published his revolutionary book On the Origin of Species in 1859. This was followed by The Descent of Man in 1871, in which he applied his ideas to explaining the evolution of humans.

Part II Reading Comprehension (45%)

Directions: This part is to test your reading ability. There are two sections in it.

Section 1 (40%)

Directions: There are 4 passages in this section. After each passage there are 5 questions. Each question is followed by four choices marked A, B, C and D. You should choose the best answers to the questions and mark the corresponding letters on the Answer Sheet with a single line through the center.

Passage 1

It's easy to see how to help some people, but what about those whose needs are not so clear? This story happened not long ago, but it is a lesson that has stayed with me and helped me ever since.

It was Thanksgiving and I was volunteering with my parents at a shelter for the poor. We served hot food to whoever came in. Most of these people looked as if they had been having hard times; their clothes were worn out and dirty, Then, a man came in, who looked anything but poor. He was well dressed. I wondered what he was doing there and my jaw(下巴) dropped in amazement when he joined the queue for food. What was this man doing? Surely he wasn't going to take food which was meant for those who were really in need!

Then my mother quietly took me to one side. She said, “You have thought that the needs of the people who come here must be purely physical. But what if his needs are emotional? What if he needs comfort, friends, or just to be among other people?” Her words hit me like a ton of bricks! I felt like I should apologize to the man--but I didn't.

About a week later the shelter received a large donation from an anonymous donor. I couldn't help but wonder if it came from that man.

Now, whenever I meet someone, I will remember my mother's lesson and try to send kindness to him according to his needs, no matter how he looks. Needs aren't always seen. But kindness always makes difference.

26 How did the author feel as the well-dressed man joined the queue for food?

A. Surprised. B. Excited. C. Nervous. D. Hopeless.

27.What the author's mother said shows that we_____.

A. shouldn't judge a man by his appearance B. shouldn't complain to others

C. should give others what they want D. should accept everything we meet

28. What does the underlined word “anonymous” in Paragraph 4 probably mean?

A .Important. B. Unknown. C. Independent. D. Excellent.

29. From the last paragraph, we learn that _____ .

A. seeing is believing

B. it's difficult to be kind to others

C. some rich people pretend to be poor

D. we should help people based on their needs

30. What would be the best title for the passage?

A. My Mother's Influence on My Growth

B. The Importance of Volunteering

C. One of My Most Shameful Experiences

D. A Simple Lesson in Kindness

Passage 2

Red Dog was special.

He was not one of those dogs who ran shouting into the wind in groups. He just loved walking with me. Sometimes, on the narrow road, he walked so close that his bright red fur brushed against my leg.

“Red Dog," I’d say, “each morning when we meet for the first time, why do you always look so glad?

Of course, Red Dog never made reply with words. If he wanted to say something, he spoke with his eyes, or the bend in his tail. However, since we were friends, that was enough.

At night, Red Dog slept on the front porch, lying there and dreaming dreams of long summer days and endless walks. His night-world filled up with the moon and stars, hoot-owl hoots, and ghostly white fogs that crept silently into the fields.

Between dreams, I think that Red Dog must have awakened, raised his head, and looked around. Maybe then he became a little lonely. And probably he wondered why I got to sleep inside, but he had to sleep on the porch.

But, you see, Red Dog lived in a time when dogs such as he were not allowed to go inside their masters' homes. In those days, most people didn't even believe that dogs had feelings, though I did.

Yes, during those days when we walked in the fields and woods, Red Dog and I helped one another see things in special ways. Weedy roadsides were like museums and the fields of corn and beans around us were like circuses with many rings.

31. Why was Red Dog special?

A. Because he loved walking with the author.

B. Because he could swim.

C. Because he loved playing with other dogs.

D. Because he could play with kids.

32 .What would Red Dog do to express himself?

A. Raise his head. B. Use his eyes or tail.

C. Lie down outside. D. Speak a human language.

33. How might Red Dog feel when he awakened at night?

A. Curious and excited. B. Terrified and lonely.

C. Happy and excited. D. Lonely and puzzled.

34. How did most people think about dogs in the story?

A. Dogs could speak with words. B. Dogs didn't have feelings.

C. Dogs could enter masters' houses. D. Dogs were people's friends.

35. What is the passage mainly about?

A. Bedrooms and yards. B. Fields and woods.

C. Red Dog and his master. D. Museums and circuses.

Passage 3

For the past 28 years, barber Liu Jianjun and his team have been volunteering in Changchun. He and his team, which has 3,700 volunteers, have given free haircuts to around 80,000 people.

They also volunteer to help those in need, such as seniors who live alone, and send them daily necessities during festivals.

The 53-year-old has been helping others since he opened his barber shop in 1994. “I lost my mother when I was 6, and my father left home soon after,” he said. “I was raised by my grandmother and was looked after by my neighbors. So when he opened his barber shop, he decided to repay some of the kindness he had been shown.

Every day he arrives at his shop an hour before opening to give free haircuts to people over 70. He also spends his spare time providing door-to-door service for those who have difficulty walking.

His team members visit seniors to help them buy daily needs, move heavy objects and make repairs. They also offer free haircuts to deliverymen and sanitation workers.“ Fortunately, I got a lot of support from my team, friends and relatives ,"he said. “The team is like a big family and its members care for and help each other. I really want to thank all of them.

The youngest member of his team is 7. “Several students have joined, and they volunteer with their parents," he said. “When we visit nursing homes, they sing and dance, bringing the elderly a lot of pleasure.

In 2014, Liu joined the Communist Party of China on the recommendation of his community. “Being a Party member is not only about status, but also about a heavy responsibility and a lifelong commitment,” he said. “I am determined to progress further along the road of voluntary service.

36. What does the underlined word “volunteering” most probably mean?

A. Living alone. B. Building new houses.

C. Raising children. D. Offering to do things.

37.Why does barber Liu give free haircuts?

A. To apologize to customers. B. To express his thanks.

C. To practice technical skills. D. To increase business sales.

38. What does barber Liu do in his spare time?

A. Move heavy objects. B. Make repairs.

C. Provide door-to-door service. D. Help people buy food.

39. What is Liu's attitude towards his team?

A. Sad. B. Thankful. C. Strange. D. Angry.

40. What can we learn from the passage?

A. Barbers are few. B. Festivals have value.

C. Service is expensive. D. Kindness has power.

Passage 4

The Sun is undoubtedly the powerhouse of the solar system. The energy released from the Sun is equivalent to about 36 octillion (10 的 48 次方) lumens, where a lumen is a measure of the total amount of visible light. All the energy radiates out from the center of our solar system in the form of light, heat, gamma rays and X-rays, and magnetic fields. But in fact, the Sun's energy is generated in its core and moves outward to its surface where it is released as electromagnetic radiation. The heat, light and radiation that come from the Sun are all examples of electromagnetic radiation.

It takes about 8 minutes for the electromagnetic radiation from the Sun to travel 93 million miles to the Earth. When it arrives, some of that solar energy is blocked or absorbed by the atmosphere, but what isn't blocked is absorbed or reflected by the air, land, water, plants and other matter that covers the surface of our planet, When the molecules in matter gain energy, they move more, vibrating in place or even bouncing off one another.

Unlike electromagnetic radiation, heat must be transferred or conducted through matter. Some types of matter, like water, are really good at holding onto this energy. Clouds of water particles and gases in the atmosphere absorb some of this heat too. This absorption of heat helps the Earth stay warm. It's one reason our planet stays at a livable temperature and doesn't change radically from freezing cold to blazing hot every day.

Energy from the Sun makes it possible for life to exist on the Earth. It is responsible for photosynthesis in plants, vision in animals, and many other natural processes, air and water that creates weather. Most plants need at least some sunlight to grow, so without light, there would be no plants, and without plants, there would not be oxygen for us to breathe. Infrared radiation from the Sun is responsible for heating the Earth's atmosphere and surface. Without energy from the Sun, the Earth would freeze. There would be no winds, ocean currents or clouds to transport water.

What's more, every day the Sun shines on the Earth, driving many chemical and physical changes across the planet. Light, which travels fastest in the world, helps people on the Earth clearly see the world.

41. How far is the Sun from the Earth?

A. 8 miles. B.11 million miles.

C.13 miles. D. 93 million miles.

42. Light travels from the Sun to the Earth in the form of? .

A. waves B. brain waves

C. sound waves D. electromagnetic radiation

43. Which of the following travels fastest?

A. Car. B. Light.

C. Plane. D. Wind.

44. What are lumens used to describe?

A. Brightness. B. Darkness.

C. Liquid. D. Speed.

45. What role does light play in life according to the passage?

A. To make people have a better life. B. To help people conduct experiments.

C. To help improve the environment. D. To help people see the world.

Section 2 (5%)

Directions: There is 1 passage in this section. Read the passage and complete the outline below it (No. 46 to No. 50). You should write your answers briefly (in no more than three words) on the Answer Sheet correspondingly.

If you have something valuable in mind, a service to offer, or an idea to develop, then you should tell it to other people to widen its scope. Why not make full use of it?

The fact is that, when you have enough vision, you may have the courage. And then you simply have to pursue it, however crazy it might seem to others.

Remember that everything starts from small things: Rome was not built in a day. Scientists say that everything in the universe comes from a smaller unit than you can possibly assume. So it doesn't matter where you are at present, because small beginnings become great things at last.

Think big by enlisting(争取) others: To think big, you need to see yourself as a small part of a greater whole. Enlist people who are better than you. If you're not the most organized person, don't just be unhappy about it. You should find someone who is better.

Big thinkers know their personal limitations. Gather people who can do what you can't do around you to make sure your dream will come true.

Think big by focusing on future regrets: There is an old saying, “ We regret not the things we did do, but the things we didn't do. "You'll never know how far it could go unless you see how far you can take something.

If you have big plans, just close your eyes. And strongly imagine how regretful you will be if you don't try or attempt properly.

Feel that it is your human duty to think big: When something is probably of real service to mankind, then it is a human duty to think and act big. Even if you don't succeed at last, it is still valuable to think big.

If you have __46__ in mind, you should make full use of it.

How to train yourself to think big:

Remember that every big thing starts from a(n) __47__one.

It is not important where you are ___48___.

See yourself as a small part of a greater whole.

You should __49__ better people around you to make sure of the realization of your dream.

If you don't try, you will never know how far your idea could go.

Imagine how much regret you will have if you give up your big plans.

It is your ___50___ to think big and it is worth trying.

56.蓝人翻译，仅供参考：

在假期里，人们往往涌向热门景点。结果，游客可能会遇到交通堵塞，或发现难以预订到酒店。事实上，人们有更好的选择来避开人群并且度过一个令人满意的假期。比如，他们

可以选择去某个地方露营或游览附近的地区。在这些地方，人们可以拍秀丽的照片，采摘水果或蔬菜，试一试美味的特产，体验各种各样的活动。无论人们选择什么，最重要的都是享受假期。

57.蓝人考前模板套写作文：

As is known to all, the importance of taking advice is over our expectation. Regretfully, more and more young people are faced with overconfidence. In my opinion, we should attach importance to taking advice.

Personally, advice from my parents exerted a profound influence on us students. Not only did it fully have us avoid wrong decisions, but it motivated us to make a step forward. What's more, only when we enhance our awareness of following advice can we avoid being a loser. It's high time that we should stop being overconfident.

I am firmly convinced that you will benefit significantly from others' advice.

Passage 1

One of the most important gifts parents can give their kids is time to play. Finding time to play with kids can be a challenge if parents are busy. But play isn't an option, but a must. It's so important to child development that it has been recognized by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights as a right of every child.

Scientists say 75 percent of the brain develops after a baby is born, in the years between birth and the early 20s. Play in childhood motivates the brain to make connections between neurons (神经元). Play during the teen years and into adulthood helps the brain develop even more connectivity. This helps a child or a teenager develop both physical and social skills. Besides, play can also help to increase the emotional well-being.

Studies have shown that kids who are encouraged to use their imagination are more creative in their adult life. So it's wise for parents to shut down the screens and encourage their kids to do free play. Free play costs parents nothing but offers kids everything. Throw a sheet over the table to make a lovely tent; hand out paper plates and challenge everyone to make a funny hat; play hide-and-seek with the little ones, etc. All the free play is unstructured, but it makes kids learn important social skills by working with others.

Kids Need Free Play

Who: Giving our kids time to play is not a choice but a __17__.

Why: Play is important to the __18__ skills, social skills, and emotional well-being of children and the youth.

What: Parents should __19__ free play. The word "free" means both "__20__" and "with no cost".

Why: Free play enables kids to __21__ with others and learn important social skills.

Passage 2

The number of giraffes is becoming smaller across Africa, according to the Giraffe Conservation Foundation (GCF). The total population has dropped by 40 percent in the last 15 years. The GCF is the only non-governmental organization (NGO) in the world to focus solely on the conservation of giraffes in Africa and is pioneering (倡导) a sustainable future for this mammal. According to a study, giraffes are quietly disappearing because it is difficult for them to find acacia trees, their favourite food.

Work towards their conservation is more important now than it has ever been. And more and more giraffes are also being hunted. Because of this, the GCF decided to work with African parks. These parks are very important for keeping Nubian giraffes safe. GPS collars were used to keep an eye on giraffes but they can't stay on for long.

To solve this problem, new tracking devices which are as small as a chocolate bar, solar-powered and don't bother giraffes much are used to stop illegal hunting to keep giraffes safe.

Keep an Eye on Giraffes

What: Giraffes are quietly __22__ because their favourite __23__ is difficult to find. GPS collars were used to keep an eye on giraffes but they can't __24__ on for long.

How: New tracking devices, which are as __25__ as a chocolate bar, solar-powered, and don't __26__ giraffes much , are used to stop illegal hunting to keep giraffes safe.

Passage 1

It was on Sunday morning, when Sam went to see his grandfather alone. He took the bus to his grandfather's house, as it was quite a distance away. As the bus traveled along, it stopped at a busy stop and a crowd of passengers boarded, including an old lady.

The bus was already crowded, and there were no more seats available. The old lady looked tired and strained, but she held on to the handrail for support. Sam noticed this and felt a bit uneasy, but he was also far from having the empty seat and couldn't offer one to her.

Suddenly, a voice came from the back of the bus. It was the little girl, who had boarded the bus before. "Please, take my seat, Grandma," she said sweetly. The old lady was taken aback but soon smiled gratefully and sat down.

This act of kindness didn't just move the old lady. Other passengers, inspired by the little girl, also got up and offered their seats to those who needed them. The atmosphere in the bus suddenly changed from one kind of indifference to one kind of kindness and compassion.

Sam watched the scene with a sense of awe. He was amazed by the little girl's selflessness and generosity. It made him realize that true kindness comes from the heart, regardless of age or size.

As the bus continued its journey, Sam couldn't help but think about the little girl's act of kindness. He turned to the passenger next to him and said, " What a lovely little girl! " Indeed, her simple yet profound act of giving had left a lasting impression on everyone on the bus.

27. When did the story happen?

Passage 2

In my job, I get to combine my two passions: sport and writing.

I wrote newspaper articles about sport while studying for my journalism degree. I worked as a trainee writer for a local newspaper. Now, I write for a top newspaper. Today, I am writing an article about a baseball game. I arrive at the stadium two hours before the game starts. I have got ready for my work.

By now the players are arriving, so I hurry down to wait outside the changing area where I manage to get a short interview with the home team's star, player. I have limited time, so I only ask a few important questions, such as how he's feeling and what his expectations are.

Once the game starts, I take notes on the action as it happens. It is an exciting game-The home team wins! As the fans leave, I go to the press conference with other journalists. We listen to both team coaches' thoughts on the game and I get some good quotes.

Finally, it is time for me to pull all my notes together into the finished article to send to the newspaper. I only have a couple of hours to write it all up. The paper will be printed tonight, and the public will be reading my article over breakfast in the morning. I love sharing my love for sport through words.

Part III Reading Comprehension

This part is to test your reading ability. There are two sections in it.

Section 1

Directions: Below are two passages. Each passage is followed by 5 questions. In each question, there is a blank that you need to fill in with the correct answer based on the passage content. Each answer should be one word.

Passage 1

The Dong Grand Choir is a unique musical tradition of the Dong people in China. For centuries, the Dong people, who live in mountain villages of Guizhou, Guangxi and Hunan, have used these songs to share stories, teach moral values, and celebrate nature. Unlike most choirs, there is no conductor or written music—the harmony is created naturally by singers of all ages.

The songs are divided into two types: Galao and Gaxia. Galao are performed at festivals and tell stories about history or love, while Gaxia are short tunes people sing during daily work. The most amazing part is their singing style, combining different voice parts. Traditionally, children learn these songs by listening to elders while sitting around a big fire at night.

However, this tradition faces challenges. With many young people moving to cities for jobs, fewer villages are there to keep the singing tradition alive. To protect the tradition, local schools have started choir classes. The Dong Grand Festival now attracts tourists worldwide every year.

The Dong people believe that "a song is more valuable than rice", showing how deeply music is rooted in their culture.

The Dong Grand Choir

Type of Tradition: The Dong Grand choir is a unique 17. _____ tradition of the Dong people in China.

Unique Feature: Unlike most choirs, the Dong Grand choir has no conductor or 18. _____ music.

Passing - down of Tradition: Children learn the songs by 19. _____ to elders around a big fire at night.

Challenges : There are 20. _____ villagers to keep the tradition alive.

Action Taken : Local schools have started choir 21. _____ to protect the tradition.

Passage 2

When people disagree, it can be hard to find common ground. Research on how people handle differences has uncovered useful ways to make communication better.

What the studies Found

A survey of 1,912 people found that we often guess other's feelings wrong. For example, we often think that others want to argue, but the fact is that they just want to learn. This proves that most people are more open than we think.

Easy steps to try

● Asking questions: can you tell me why you feel that way! Asking a question like this makes other feel more willing to share their ideas. In a Stanford test, this simple question helped 40% more people listen to different ideas.

● Telling stories: sharing your life stories works very well. In the 2018 US elections, volunteers talked to voters about immigration. Those who shared both personal stories and facts changed 5% more voters' minds in just 11 minutes.

● Being polite: Being rude makes people stop listening, staying calm and kind helps others understand your ideas. Remember: Being polite costs nothing but wins everything.

The Final Thought

As a famous thinker said, different opinions aren't just noise, they are teachers. By asking questions, sharing stories, and being polite, we turn differences into chances to grow.

Passage 1

Anna and her girl friends decided to take a journey along the river's path. They rented a small boat and packed food, drinks, and blankets for the day. The sun was shining brightly, making the river look like a sea of stars. The gentle breeze carried the scent of blooming flowers from the riverbanks nearby.

As they moved forward, birds flew overhead, singing songs in the air. They enjoyed watching the ducks swim and play in the clear, sparkling water. Anna loved the calming sound of the river as it flowed past them. Soon, they reached a quiet spot where they decided to stop for lunch. They spread out the blankets and sat down, enjoying sandwiches and fresh fruit. Laughter filled the air as they shared stories and recalled past adventures together. The river flowed gently by, listening quietly to their cheerful conversations.

Afterwards, they continued their journey, discovering new sights. They saw a family of ducks bathing in the warm afternoon sun. Anna felt grateful for this peaceful day spent with nature and good friends.

As evening approached, they knew it was time to head back home. They rowed slowly, watching the sunset paint the sky with shades of red and gold. The river shimmered one last time before the stars began to twinkle above. Anna and her friends promised to return to the river for another journey soon. Their hearts were full of joy and gratitude for this unforgettable day together.

27. What did Anna and her girl friends pack for their boat journey?

Passage 2

Dear Jane,

Sorry for the late reply. I’ve been quite busy in the past months, and finally today I’m actually doing something about it. Since we last saw each other, I’ve unpacked my bags in three different cities, thanks to my job.

I went from London to Prague to set up a new regional office there. Winter was really hard, with -15°C in the mornings and dark really early in the evenings.

From there I was on another three-month mission to ensure the set-up of the office in New York. I did every visit you can think of when I wasn’t working and spent most of my salary on eating out.

Then I was posted to Los Angeles in California. I could definitely get used to that kind of outdoor, beach lifestyle.... But, as you know, I had to fly back to London to see my boyfriend Michael every other weekend.

Michael and I are getting married, which is also why I wanted to write. I can’t get married without my oldest friend there! The marriage ceremony is going to be at home in London in September. I hope you can come!

Any way, tell me all your news, and I’ll write back soon!

2025 年湖北专升本（大学英语）真题（回忆版）答案+解析

Part I 语法填空

1.【答案】biggest

解析：考查形容词最高级。“of all”表示在所有当中，三者及以上比较要用形容词最高级 ，“big”的最高级是“biggest” ，这里表示这是建筑领域所有奖项中最大的奖。故填 biggest。

2.【答案】for

解析：考查介词。“has worked”是现在完成时，“40 years”是一段时间，在现在完成时中，接一段时间要用介词“for”，表示动作持续了40年。故填 for。

3.【答案】started

解析：考查动词时态。“In 1999”是过去的时间点，句子描述过去发生的动作，要用一般过去时，“start”的过去式是“started”，即他在1999年创办了公司。故填 started。

4.【答案】and

解析：考查连词。“small museums”“big buildings”“city plans”是并列关系，在肯定句中连接并列事物用“and” ，表示包括小博物馆、大型建筑和城市规划。故填 and。

5.【答案】beautiful

解析：考查形容词。这里需要一个形容词来修饰名词“buildings”，“beauty”是名词，其形容词形式是“beautiful”，意为他用当地材料和简单设计打造出漂亮的建筑。故填 beautiful。

6.【答案】designs

解析：考查名词。句子描述一般事实，用一般现在时，主语“Liu”是第三人称单数，所以“design”要用第三人称单数形式“designs”，表示他也为普通人做设计。故填 designs。

7.【答案】finished

解析：考查非谓语。“West Village”和“finish”之间是被动关系，即西村是被完成的，这里用过去分词“finished”作后置定语，修饰“West Village”，表示2015年建成的西村。故填 finished。

8.【答案】walking

解析：考查动名词。“for”是介词，后接动词时要用动名词形式，“walk”的动名词形式是“walking”，表示供跑步、步行和骑行的道路。故填 walking。

9.【答案】a

解析：考查冠词。“pleasant and wonderful environment”是泛指一个宜人美妙的环境，“pleasant”读音以辅音音素开头，所以用不定冠词“a”。故填 a。

公众号：小蓝书创作人

10.【答案】happiness

解析：考查名词。“People’s”是名词所有格，后接名词，“happy”是形容词，其名词形式是“happiness”，表示人们的幸福是我们为之努力的目标。故填 happiness。

Part II 连词成句（解析略）

11.【答案】She has completed her homework.

解析：语法结构：这是一个主谓宾结构的陈述句，时态为现在完成时（has + 过去分词 completed）。

成分定位：

主语（动作执行者）：She（人称代词主格，需置于句首）；

谓语（动作）：has completed（现在完成时，表 “已完成的动作”）；

宾语（动作对象）：her homework（名词短语，作 completed 的宾语）。

12.【答案】Can you tell me your plan?

解析：语法结构：这是一个一般疑问句，包含 “情态动词 + 主语 + 谓语 + 双宾语” 结构。

成分定位：

情态动词（引导疑问句）：Can（需置于句首，首字母大写）；

主语：you（紧跟情态动词后）；

谓语：tell（动词，用法为 “tell sb. sth.”，双宾语结构）；

间接宾语：me（指人，作 tell 的间接宾语）；

直接宾语：your plan（指物，作 tell 的直接宾语）。

13.【答案】Let me explain how this works.

解析：语法结构：这是一个祈使句，包含 “使役动词 + 宾语 + 动词原形 + 宾语从句” 结构。

成分定位：使役动词（引导祈使句）：Let（祈使句开头用动词原形，首字母大写）；

Let 的宾语：me（人称代词宾格，置于 Let 后）；

宾语补足语：explain（动词原形，符合 “Let sb. do sth.” 结构）；

宾语从句（explain 的对象）：how this works（从句用陈述语序，不可说 “how does this work”）。

14.【答案】My friends and I went to the same lecture.

解析：语法结构：这是主谓宾结构的陈述句，时态为一般过去时（went），包含并列主语。

成分定位：

并列主语（动作执行者）：My friends and I（并列人称主语，“他人 + I” 的顺序更符合英语表达习惯，避免说 “I and my friends”）；

谓语（动作）：went to（过去时，“去某地”，后接地点宾语）；

宾语（地点）：the same lecture（名词短语，作 went to 的宾语）。

15.【答案】Deepseek was established in 2023 by a group of young people.

解析：语法结构：这是被动语态的陈述句（be + 过去分词），表 “动作的承受者”。

成分定位：

主语（动作承受者）：Deepseek（机构名称，是 “被建立” 的对象，置于句首）；

谓语（被动语态）：was established（一般过去时被动，“被建立”，be 动词用 was，因主语是单数）；

时间状语：in 2023（表动作发生的时间，置于谓语后）；

动作执行者（被动语态中用 by 引出）：by a group of young people（“一群年轻人”，说明 “谁建立了 Deepseek”）。

16.【答案】“Made in China 2025” is a plan to improve China’s technology and industries.

解析：语法结构：这是主系表结构的陈述句，包含 “不定式作定语”。

成分定位：

主语：“Made in China 2025”（专有名词短语，指国家战略，需加引号，置于句首）；

系动词：is（连接主语和表语，因主语是单数，用 is）；

表语（说明主语性质）：a plan（名词短语，作 is 的表语）；

定语（修饰 plan）：to improve China’s technology and industries（不定式短语，表 “计划的目的”，修饰 plan）。

Part III 阅读填空

Passage 1

17.【答案】musical

公众号：小蓝书创作人

解析：根据文章第一段第一句“The Dong Grand Choir is a unique musical tradition of the Dong people in China.”，明确提到侗族大歌是中国侗族一种独特的音乐传统。故填 musical。

18.【答案】written

解析：由第一段最后一句“Unlike most choirs, there is no conductor or written music — the harmony is created naturally by singers of all ages.”可知，与大多数合唱团不同，侗族大歌没有指挥和书面乐谱。故填 written。

19.【答案】listening

解析：依据第二段最后一句“Traditionally, children learn these songs by listening to elders while sitting around a big fire at night.”，传统上孩子们通过晚上围坐在篝火旁听长辈唱歌来学习这些歌曲，by是介词，后接动名词形式。故填 listening 。

20.【答案】fewer

解析：从第三段第二句“With many young people moving to cities for jobs, fewer villages are there to keep the singing tradition alive.”可知，随着许多年轻人前往城市工作，能够传承这种歌唱传统的村庄越来越少。故填fewer。

21.【答案】classes

解析：根据第三段第三句“To protect the tradition, local schools have started choir classes.”，为了保护这一传统，当地学校开设了合唱课程。故填 classes。

Passage 2

22.【答案】wrong

解析：根据文中“A survey of 1,912 people found that we often guess other’s feelings wrong.”，明确提到对1912人的调查发现我们经常错误地猜测他人的感受。故填 wrong。

23.【答案】asking

解析：文中“Easy steps to try”部分提到“Asking questions”是解决分歧的简单方法之一，这里用动名词形式asking与telling、being并列。故填 asking。

24.【答案】polite

解析：由“Easy steps to try”中的“Being polite: Being rude makes people stop listening...”可知，保持礼貌是解决分歧的方法之一。故填 polite。
